National Education Policy 2020 has been announced on 29.07.2020. NEP 2020 proposes a new and forward-looking vision for India's Higher Education System through quality universities and colleges. Its key is in the curriculum and its practical implementation.

The curriculum must be exciting, relevant, and regularly updated to align with the latest knowledge requirements and meet specified learning outcomes. High-quality pedagogy is necessary to impart the curricular material to students successfully; pedagogical practices determine the learning experiences provided to students, thus directly influencing learning outcomes. The assessment methods must be scientific, designed to improve learning continuously test the knowledge application.

The university's proper framing and development of syllabi will result in the upbringing and nourishment of multidisciplinary and holistic citizens. Emphasis is on outcome-based learning. Every course has well-defined objectives and outcomes. The assessment guidelines also provide clarity and precision to the vision behind prescribing the particular course content.

NEP foresees more vibrant, socially engaged, cooperative communities and a happier, cohesive, cultured, productive, innovative, progressive, and prosperous nation. The introduction of Research Methodology and ethics will widen the vision and broaden the perspectives of the learners.

Introducing Case Studies and Field Projects has created a unique opportunity for the higher education institute to bridge the gap between the academia, industry and the community NEP believes effective learning requires a comprehensive approach that involves an appropriate curriculum, engaging pedagogy, continuous formative assessment, and adequate student support.

We are sure that the Graduate centres of this university and its affiliated colleges will implement the course effectively and successfully, resulting in a healthy and more creative academic ambience.

From Desk of Chairman, Board of Studies in the Subject Sociology

In higher education, humanities play a crucial role in preserving past accomplishments, providing insights into our present world, and equipping students with the tools to imagine the future. The humanities foster critical thinking, analysis, and interpretation of complex ideas and information. By studying literature, sociology, anthropology, philosophy, and other humanities disciplines, students gain a greater understanding of different cultures, human relations, and the foundations for engaged civic life. The study of humanities enables students to evaluate evidence, develop a global perspective, appreciate diverse cultures and viewpoints, and foster social justice and equality. Through studying sociology, individuals can understand our social world, human behavior, and the formation of relationships. Sociology offers the scientific study of various aspects of society and its functioning. It equips individuals with the ability to observe and understand their environment, culture, interactions, and their impact on others. Additionally, sociology contributes to creating responsible citizens who can find solutions to community problems and establish their relationship with society. The field of sociology also offers various career pathways within society.

As the Chairman of the Board of Studies in Sociology at Swami Ramanand Teerth Marathwada University, Nanded, I am pleased to announce that the program educational objectives for the undergraduate program in sociology have been finalized. These objectives were determined through a meeting attended by approximately 18 members from different institutes, including heads of Sociology departments and eminent individuals in the field. The finalized program educational objectives are as follows:

- To incorporate all the key concepts of sociology, enabling students to develop keen insights to distinguish between common sense knowledge and sociological knowledge, and to enhance their conceptual learning and understanding of basic concepts.
- To develop students' critical thinking skills by encouraging them to critically analyze and exercise sociological imagination, raise important questions, and examine arguments.
- To provide methodological and theoretical insights that enable students to analyze society and its dynamics.
- To introduce students to both classical sociological theory and more recent developments in social theory, along with current debates and research from different parts of the world.
- To promote students' ability to conduct empirical research, analyze data, and effectively write about social issues.
- To encourage students to engage in interdisciplinary learning and collaboration, as well as develop skills such as communication, teamwork, time management, and problem-solving.
- To cultivate students' awareness of gender equality, gender sensitization, sanitation, and environmental issues.
- To produce responsible and proactive members of society who can contribute within their circle of influence by having a better understanding of complex social phenomena.

In addition to the above objectives, affiliated institutes may include additional programs that align with our educational objectives. It is the responsibility of the affiliated institutes to ensure that these program educational objectives are achieved through the learners' perspective, which should be incorporated into the curriculum.

Adopting the philosophy of outcome-based education will support the delivery of quality education. These steps, taken in the right direction, will undoubtedly benefit stakeholders and contribute to the advancement of education.
